A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4/7/09 has been entered.

Amendment, filed on 3/5/09 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kimura et al. (JP 09-045275, of record), and further in view of Gilbert (JP 62-287560, of record).

Regarding claim 1, Kimura et al. disclose an electron-multiplier (Figs 1 & 2) comprising a dynode unit (100 of Fig 8) having a plurality of dynodes (500) positioned in a plurality of dynodes positioned in a mutually-insulated layered state in multiple stages and disposed in a vacuum container; a plurality of insulating plates (ceramic ring 41), insulating the respective dynodes from each other; and columns (200 of Fig 8) are fit or engage with the respective dynodes and the respective insulating plates, wherein the respective dynodes and the respective insulating plates are overlapped alternately (see Fig 8; see Paragraphs 24-28 of English translation) in the state of being fitted or engaged with the columns and the respective dynodes and the respective insulating spacers are supported integrally on the columns (200) by means of arresting members (202) being fixed to the tip portion of the columns at the front edge of the column (see Fig 8, paragraph 34).

However, Kimura fail to disclose that the columns are erected from a stem plate (8) making up the vacuum container (housing 1 of Fig 2).

However, in the same filed of electron multiplier, Gilbert discloses an electron multiplier tube (Fig 1 & Fig 2) where the columns (sliding means 50) holding or engaging the dynode unit (electron multiplier unit 40) are erected from a stem plate (base 6) making up the vacuum container (10) and arresting members (53) are fixed to a front edge of each respective column (See English translation).

Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the column of Kimura being erected the stem plate and fixed to the stem plate as taught by Gilbert since such structure will have more stable configuration with more mechanical strength., and also facilitates manufacturing steps.
